The Wright Stuff

A Word from Bob Wright

I just finished watching the fourth game of the World Series – won by Boston, 4-2. I was very disappointed. Not in the teams – I like both of them and am neutral as to the outcome. No, instead, it was the over-the-top promotion of the Stand Up 2 Cancer campaign that got me going. Let me explain.

Decade after decade, year after year, since President Nixon declared the “war on cancer” in 1971, funds have poured into the National Institutes of Health, the American Cancer Society, the National Cancer Institute, and many more governmental, private, and “so-called” charitable organizations to research and discover the cure for cancer.

Folks, how is that working for us? Today, more people have cancer and die from it than ever before. As a matter of fact, literally tens of millions of people are walking around today with no knowledge that cancer is developing in their bodies (could take up to 8 years – or more – to be detectable).

So, more and more dollars are being pumped into organizations like Stand Up 2 Cancer for the “research” that will bring us the cure. Unfortunately, that research is tired and worn and continues to be done by the “good ‘ol boy” network that has no interest in a cure – but real interest in keeping the money flowing. You see, a cure puts them – and all of these other cancer establishments – out of business.

Please understand that my stand against this well-organized, cancer-continuing, money machine is not personal. I see millions of well-intentioned people who have real concerns for themselves and their families and many are sick and/or have lost loved ones. Who can blame them for reaching out and joining a cause – any cause – that is said to be fighting cancer? Sadly, they pay no attention to where the money raised really goes.

I’ve said the following many times before – but it must be repeated (it appears) over and over again until the truth of its substance really sinks in:

“The money from these fundraising activities is virtually wasted. It goes into the huge, black, sucking hole called cancer research, never to be seen or heard from again.”

And this goes on year after year. Ten million dollars for this study, a hundred million dollars for this one – literally hundreds of billions going down the proverbial tube – with exactly what to show for it? Nothing. Not a darn thing.

I want to reintroduce you to a couple of quotes from the second edition of my book, “Killing Cancer – Not People,” pages 45 and 46. The first is from Dr. William Campbell Douglass, M.D., and the second from Dr. Betty Martini. It seems appropriate that, during “Breast Cancer Awareness Month,” we should get another look and take on this from real Doctors who know the truth about cancer – and are willing to share it:

“Here’s what October smells like: burning leaves, pumpkin pie, and B.S. That’s because it’s Breast Cancer Awareness Month, which is practically a national holiday at this point. And, if you don’t join the ‘in’ crowd and slap a pink ribbon on whatever you’re wearing, you’re treated like some kind of cold-blooded, breast-hating monster.

“But those pink ribbons don’t exist to cure disease or save lives – they represent a Big Pharma-funded effort to drive millions of women through a funnel of screenings for a disease many don’t even have, and treatments that most of them don’t even need. In fact, the supposed benefits of all those screenings and treatments are about as real as the Great Pumpkin – and the numbers prove it every time.

“Breast Cancer Awareness Month is now 26 years old. In the 26 years since it was launched by AstraZeneca to help sell the company’s cancer drugs, it’s been a wild success – for AstraZeneca and anyone else who makes money off cancer screenings and treatments. But when it comes to saving lives and curing disease, it’s been a miserable failure. Up to 15 lives are ruined with unnecessary and deforming breast-chopping surgeries and poisonous radiation treatments for every life ‘saved.’ And even then, there’s no guarantee that the one life ‘saved’ was actually the result of early detection and brutal mainstream treatments – because plenty of them were actually CAUSED by the radioactive and tumor-bursting screenings in the first place.”

- William Campbell Douglass, M.D.

Now, to our Advisory Board Member and the world's leading advocate in the fight against aspartame through her Mission Possible organization, Dr. Betty Martini:

“In the early 90’s, my friend Michelle and I walked with these ladies. I had thousands of copies made of a speech I had given at the Capital on the cure for cancer and, of course, aspartame information – original studies showed more mammary tumors than brain tumors. The representatives there were furious and asked us to leave. I told them it was public property and they were out of luck. Michelle said, ‘Do you really want to cure breast cancer or are you in it for bigger bonuses and money?’ She answered, ‘We want the money, we’re not interested in the cure, now leave!’ I never forgot that.”

Obviously, there are several more similar stories in the book, including Mike Adams (the Health Ranger – Natural News), that skewers the “Race for the Cure” and the cancer industry.

Stand Up 2 Cancer, in my opinion, is largely a front for movie stars, corporations, professional sports, and other famous people and organizations to feel good about themselves by attaching their persona to a supposed non-profit that purports to be fighting the good fight against cancer. Friends, it's a “can't miss” opportunity. Who is NOT against cancer (I mean, of course, in real life – not in corporate greed)? Started in 2008, this organization raised over $100 million in 2008/2009 alone. They have stated on their website that they have funded their “Dream Teams” (in truth – that good ‘ol boy network) to the tune of $161 million over the last five years. Having not looked at their tax returns (should be public record), I would guess that they have taken in well in excess of a quarter of a billion dollars thus far (including this year). I wonder where the rest went.

I'm tired of pink shoes, pink ribbons, pink KFC chicken buckets, pink guns, pink baseball gloves and bats, pink uniforms – are you getting the picture here? I would rather see healed bodies, empty cancer wards, fewer obituaries and thriving children.

In the final analysis, I'm just tired of what has become the status-quo in the cancerous United States. Instead, why don't we celebrate and forward what really works for cancer – treatments, therapies, protocols and supplements that have proven their efficacy for this disease over decades and, in some cases, centuries? After all, we really do know what causes and heals this non-disease/disease today. Obviously, modern medicine does not. The human immune system will heal almost any sickness, disease, or injury known to man – that is, if you give it even half a chance. We know this because we practice this. And, our practice (natural health community) has made perfect.

So, what's the solution here? Do we continue to stand in the shadows – allowing the allopathic cancer cartel to continue and grow its false message? Do we not give a dose of reality to the naïve Americans (our friends and families) who continue to promote these organizations out of true ignorance of the real messages and practices being forwarded? Do we sit idly by? Well, in all truth and candor, that's exactly what we are doing.

Money continues to pour into the coffers of the “pink” organizations and governmental research institutions. All the while, organizations like the American Anti-Cancer Institute, Independent Cancer Research Foundation, Breast Cancer Action, Cancer Control Society, et al., continue (so far) to squeak by on $10 and $20 individual donations that barely keep the doors open. And, yet, each of these does exponentially more good for cancer patients than all of the conventional entities combined. Somewhat of a conundrum – wouldn't you say?

I'll leave you with this. We want your input. What say you? What will change this corrupt industry that is steeped in money and power to one in which the life of the patient really comes first?

Of course, I would like everyone reading this to say, "I've got an idea." Or, "I would like to participate." Sadly, experience shows that most of you will not respond. That's okay, I get it. We just don't want to get involved. It's much easier to just write a check at the end of the year to a respected organization like the American Cancer Society. I can feel good about that – I can feel that I've done something good. And, so it goes. The status-quo perpetuates itself for another year. At least, please think about what your options might be. Fact is, we need you. And, that dying cancer patient needs you the most.

Why I Do It

People often ask me why I do what I do. The link below explains it all. As my friend Chris Wark says, "Brace yourself."

One couple shares their experience with breast cancer and journey through conventional treatment in this powerful personal story and photo journal. Read it here.

Water – Why It Is So Important to Cancer Patients

The second edition of my book, “Killing Cancer – Not People,” came out over two years ago now. Although it has never been marketed or advertised commercially, it has been a best-seller and now is in its sixth printing. My personal thanks to all of you who have purchased it, used it as your cancer guide, and given us your exciting healing testimonies.

I wrote Chapter Six of this work after studying water for a lengthy period of time. I had a need to find out what cancer patients could actually drink – since almost everything that passes for consumable liquid these days is acidic, poison, and/or loaded with sugar or aspartame.

My search led me to ionized water – then to Kangen Water™ - the amazing product that flows from the Enagic Company’s hydrolysis units (which I consider the best in the world – by far). While I am not going to include the entirety of Chapter Six in this newsletter, I want to give you a taste of what this information contains which is a large part of the reasoning behind my endorsement. Please acquire the book for the rest of the story.

The following statements are from pages 167-168 and are actually quoted from the www.detoxifynow.com website:

“Ionized water has millions of hydroxyl ions per glass. No other water has this incredible benefit. Hydroxyl ions ‘neutralize’ cancer causing and destructive free radicals in the body.

“Ionized water is thousands of times more healthful to your body than any other water. And the proof ‘is in the pudding’ so to speak. Everyone who drinks ionized water, either in its natural state as glacier milk, or from a properly built and functioning water ionizer, lives in a state of health light years beyond those that don’t.

“One glass of ionized water can hydrate your body better than gallons of any other water.

“Ionized water alkalizes your body better than the only other method (eating a 100% organic and raw vegetarian diet).

“Cancer, obesity, high blood pressure, diabetes, arthritis, kidney/renal disease, cardio-vascular disease, ad infinitum, are all slowed, stopped, and in most circumstances reversed when drinking ionized water.

“Ionized water can flush toxins and poisons out of your body better and with considerably less negative effects than any other detox program/protocol.”

If you have cancer (or any other disease or sickness), take another long look at that next to last paragraph. Slowed? Stopped? Possibly reversed? You should be saying “Wow” right about now. I have been saying exactly that for years. The testimonials I have personally had told to me, among all the others that I have heard and verified through third parties – are now legion and, at times, somewhat astonishing. Especially the ones with pancreatic cancer and lung cancer. These two are almost always fatal with conventional medicine.

Of course, and make sure you understand this, no water heals cancer. Not distilled water, RO water, glacier water or Kangen Water™. But, amazing things happen to the human immune system when you put the right things into the body. Ionized water floods the body with antioxidants – more in one 12 ounce glass than the equivalent of all the organic fruits and vegetables that you could possibly eat in one day. It is (as you just heard above) the best way to bring an acid body (all cancer patients – and most human beings) back to alkaline – where we were when we were born (that’s a lot of w’s in a row!). And, ionized water, specifically, Kangen Water™, hydrates the body more efficiently and effectively than any liquid I have ever encountered because of its very low micro-clustering quality.

No, it won't cure your cancer. It may, however, be the difference in immune support that will do just that.

Let us know if you need a source for this water or the equipment that makes it. ♦

Kangen Water Testimonial

Everyone likes testimonials – especially when they have cancer and they hear that someone who had exactly what they have – has successfully healed.

You always hear me say that nothing, in and of itself, heals cancer. Instead, it is the influence of these things – whether they be supplements, foods, detoxification procedures, or other treatments or therapies – that strengthen and heal the immune system which, then, brings the body back into homeostasis. At that point one can call it a “cure,” but, only as a direct result of the resurrection of the human immune system.

Following is a testimonial of healing that led to a secondary, similar process and end result. It is short and sweet – and you will love its simplicity. One name has been changed, the other omitted:

In early 2011 when Kathy (76 years old) was having a chiropractic adjustment, she let the doctor know that she probably wouldn't be coming in much longer – she had inoperable lung cancer and had been given less than 90 days to live.

The doctor said to her, “I wish you would have mentioned this earlier. Have you ever heard of drinking alkaline water for health?” She stated that she had not but was interested and started on the water immediately.

Kathy asked the doctor to give her the strongest stuff he had and that she would drink it (11.5 pH). She drank a gallon a day and when she went back to her doctor 2 months later, he told her that her cancer had diminished by 93%. Obviously, she continued to drink the water for full recovery.

About this time she received a call from her son in Sacramento, CA, who said he had been diagnosed with Hodgkin's Lymphoma and had just been released from the hospital. There was nothing more they could do for him – his disease was terminal and he didn't have long to live. Kathy immediately took her water machine, flew to Sacramento, and informed her son that he would be drinking a gallon of this water (11.5 pH) a day – just like she did and was still doing.

After a month, he was back at work and feeling great. At nine weeks he went back to the doctor for a check-up and they were somewhat surprised to see him still alive. Upon checking him out, they declared that he was cancer-free.

Needless to say, they are both very thankful for the Kangen Water and both still drink it every day.

Investigate this water folks – if you haven't already. Does it cure cancer? No. Does it hydrate the body, bring extreme alkalinity to the cells, and flood the body with billions of antioxidants with each glass? Yes. Does this strengthen the immune system? Yes.

The family verified these results to me, as did the chiropractic doctor and an independent third party. I have many similar testimonials saying, essentially the same thing – producing the same results. There's that empirical evidence thing again. ♦

Children with Cancer

Many of you may have heard the story earlier this month of the ten-year old Amish girl who was being forced into experimental (focus on experimental) chemotherapy. Suffering with leukemia, the courts ordered, against the will of the parents, for the child to be appointed a guardian and to be required to undergo a two-year, unproven, experimental chemo study at Akron Children's Hospital (ACH).

Earlier on, when it was discovered that the initial poisonous treatments were not working and actually "killing" the young girl, the family bolted and took the child out of the country to undergo natural treatments. Despite the fact that the hospital told the family that their daughter would be dead in a couple of months without the chemo, surprisingly (yeah, right), the young lady not only has survived past her expiration date, but is now well – with no detectable cancer in her body.

Of course, the three doctors who treated her (out of the country) with nutrition, supplements, and plant extracts must have been totally out of their minds (it's O.K. to smile here). They say that CAT scans and blood tests show that she is cancer-free – and they've done these tests three times. Imagine that.

There are now warrants out for the father's arrest and it is probable that, once authorities find out where he and the healthy child are located, extradition proceedings will ensue. I've said it many times, it is simply against the law to heal cancer in our country today. And, if you try to through the only means that will actually do it (natural therapies), you WILL go to jail. No passing GO and collecting $200.

The family and the Amish community have set up a Facebook site to collect donations to help bring the family back to the U.S. and establish a defense fund.

I am not surprised. Unbeknown to most Americans, this happens virtually every day in our country. In most instances, however, the child is successfully extracted from the parents and they are jailed if they resist. And, again, in most of these situations, the child is EXPERIMENTALLY dosed with chemotherapy, radiation, and drugs to the point of death. Sure, some do survive – for a time. Most do not.

I sincerely hope that we will all see true health freedom before another generation passes. It is now said (by many) that we are living in a day and age (listen up parents) where we must consider the distinct possibility that we will outlive our children. Friends, it shouldn't be so.

Please go to the link below and read the full story. Then, if you are so inclined, express your outrage at a medical community that has truly run amok. We will appreciate your input and post to our website. Feel free to go to our Facebook site here and give your two-cents worth, as well. Read the story here now.

Okay, you're back. Did that story not turn your stomach? What, in the name of all that is good, true and right, has happened in our nation? Do we not have rights to the care and nurturing of our own children? Tell me, when did we give up those rights?

In that same article you just read from the "Journal of Natural Food and Health," comes the following (just in case you missed it in your rage):

"The National Cancer Institute (NCI) lists 39 different and ongoing cancer trials at ACH (Akron Children's Hospital) each with a number of children. ACH has revenues of $700,000,000 per year, 60% of which are Medicaid billings and other governmental agencies, according to their annual report. They are currently building a bond-funded, $250,000,000 expansion for additional rooms and treatment facilities."

Imagine, if you would for just a moment, what these organizations that practice natural or the mislabeled “alternative” therapies and treatments could do with $250,000,000. Actually, I can tell you exactly what would happen. Children would be healed instead of being guinea pigs for toxic experimental therapies. We see it every day in our “illegal” practice of natural medicine. ♦

Protect Yourself from a Cold and the Flu

You can protect yourself from a cold and the flu, WITHOUT a flu shot, and it's actually quite simple! Protecting your body from illness can be possible when you know what to do!

PROTECTION TIPS:

- Since vitamin D is naturally derived from the sun, during the winter months it is important to supplement with vitamin D each day. Get your daily vitamin D, either from the sun which is BEST, or from a krill, cold-pressed, unadulterated supplement.
- Get rid of all sources of animal protein, which suppress the immune system and exacerbate mucus production.
- Supplement with zinc and selenium, especially if you have been exposed to a cold or flu.
- Keep your hands clean, with warm soap and water; NOT ANTIBACTERIAL soaps, wipes, or gels!
- Eat immune supporting spices such as parsley, curcumin, rosemary, and cilantro; and eat raw, organic garlic each day!
- Get some exercise, even if it's cleaning your house, or walking the dog.
- GET SOME SLEEP; 8 to 10 hours every 24 hour period. Sleeping 16 hours on Saturday does NOT make up for lost sleep during the week!

Take care of your body, and your body will take care of you!
